City Black Leaders

Paint Grim Picture

Of Ignored Problems

Editor's note: Last week, Freeman City Hall Reporter Hugh Reynolds was invited by black leaders to sit down and discuss the issues and the problems in their community as they see them. This is his report, part one in a two part series.

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

What impression is one left with after a rap session with men who describe themselves as black leaders? We come away with a feeling for their profound frustration, of not so much lack of leadership but of fragmented leadership, of a striking out, almost blindly, at the people who should be helping but in their opinion aren't, a feeling that nobody really cares, least of all the people they're trying to help.

"What we're trying to do is establish a forum in the black community," said Everett Hodge, president of the Ulster County chapter of the NAACP. "But we just can't seem to get enough people interested."

The meeting, requested by Ronald Robinson, president of Project SCORE on the Strand, was a free-wheeling affair, no agenda, but the topics were familiar ones: redevelopment of downtown, housing, the police, especially the police, the Koenig Administration, the (black) clergy, the whole range of issues which one gets the impression these men have talked about time and again at other meetings.

Robinson set up the meeting at Hodge's funeral parlor on Franklin Street, inviting Sam Wilson, president of the Rondout Advisory Board, Eddie Parker, a member of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency and long a leader in the black community and the Rev. John H. Gilmore, chairman of the city's Human Rights Commission. Wilson was there; Parker and Gilmore weren't.

Since there was no "agenda" as such, the discussion tended to travel from subject to subject with Hodge and Robinson doing most of the talking. It began with Hodge who began with public housing.

"I'm very lukewarm to public housing," Hodge said. "I'm opposed to public housing in progressive areas such as Kingston. It certainly gives people a better place to live, but it destroys initiative, it destroys people."

Special

Robinson, a man who believes that downtown will come back someday through the efforts of its residents, agrees. Robinson is very much "into" home grown economic redevelopment, as witnessed by his efforts with Project SCORE, a plan to rehabilitate three buildings on The Strand by community residents. "I've been telling people to hold onto their property, not to sell. Land ownership is the basis of all economic development."

That brought the subject to the failure of the Koenig Administration to bring about the development of a shopping area downtown in the Broadway East Urban Renewal Project.

"How can the mayor develop downtown?" Robinson said. "He can first of all sit down with the minorities, with the people who live down here and help develop a group of people who can develop it. That group in turn can apply for loans to the Office of Minority Business Enterprise (OMBE) and they can get funding. We envision a joint government-private sector community effort. It can be done, but the administration has to take the initiative. All it takes is a push from the administration. This would get black business going."

Project SCORE, of which Robinson is most closely associated with, is now, in the light of proposals by Robert Johnson to redevelop the entire area, undergoing a second look. "Johnson approached me with the basic attitude of since we're not doing anything with the buildings, in his opinion, he would take them off our hands." Robinson does allow that things haven't worked out like he'd hoped—"the problem is money, we need $15,000 to put new roofs on those buildings. If we can do that we can carry out our plans."

But, Robinson says he is willing to meet with Johnson to talk over Johnson's plans. To Robinson, Johnson's plan is a "means to an end," the redevelopment by its residents, and as long as those residents retain a substantial stake in that redevelopment and its benefits, Robinson feels there's room to negotiate with a developer like Johnson.

"It's not my decision alone to make," Robinson says. "We have a board of directors. Perhaps it's too democratic, but that's the way we do things."

At one point, Hodge, Robinson and Wilson were asked what they would ask of the Koenig administration if Mayor Koenig, rather than a Freeman reporter were meeting with them. "I'd ask for more blacks in responsible jobs," Wilson said. "I'd ask for better recreational facilities. I'd ask for more blacks in the school system. I'm aware that that's not his responsibility, but he has influence and he could exert it."

Robinson had already outlined what he'd ask for economic redevelopment—but Hodge had such a meeting with Koenig, in April and according to Hodge, it didn't go well.

Next: An old but obviously important issue is raised, the police commission and the "need" for a black commissioner. Drugs, politicians, the clergy and the Rondout Recreation Center are discussed in the concluding part of this series.

Sadat Warns Israel's

Egypt's Missile Threat

By United Press International

President Anwar Sadat threatened today to launch "into the farthest part of Israel" if the Israelis strike deep into Egypt. He demanded the return of Arab territory occupied by Israel in 1967 as the price for an immediate cease-fire in the new Middle East war.

His rasping baritone interrupted by bursts of applause, Sadat announced Egypt's terms for peace in an hour-long speech to the Egyptian parliament in Cairo, in which he castigated American aid to Israel. It was his first speech since Egypt and Syria launched their surprise attack on the Israelis 11 days ago.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Golda Meir told the Knesset today that Israeli forces have crossed the Suez canal and are operating on the Egyptian side.

"I cannot give you the exact details of the attacks," she said. "At this hour the Israeli armed forces are also operating on the west side of the canal," she said. Then she added: "I cannot give you the exact details of the attacks."

Ground, air and sea fighting continued on all fronts and the decisive action still appeared to be shaping in the Sinai desert, where Egypt has thrown an army of around 100,000 men and a massive force of tanks across the Suez canal. With Russia supplying the Arabs and the United States supplying Israel, the big power detente appeared to be threatened by referring to the lands which Israeli occupied in the Sinai and the Golan Heights of Syria during the six-day war of 1967. Initial preparation for clearing the 102-mile waterway, closed by sunken ships since the 1967 war, have already begun, Sadat detente between the two super powers.

"But this cannot take place as long as there is aggression in the Middle East—the most strategic region of the world." "We are prepared to agree to a cease-fire at this moment and to reopen the Suez canal, if the Israelis withdraw from all occupied territory," Sadat said.

U.S. walking tightrope over the Israel situation. Story page 5.

"We do not seek the extermination of Israel, as they (the Israelis) claim," Sadat said, but warned against deep penetration into Egypt.

On the war fronts, Israel said its troops threw back Arab canal.

The 11th day of the 1973 Middle East war saw Syrian and Iraqi troops counterattacking against an Israeli spearhead bogged down 22 miles from the Syrian capital of Damascus. In the south, Egyptian tanks tried again to break through the Israeli containment line in the Sinai peninsula on the eastern bank of the Suez canal.

U.S. Aid and Battle Losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the present the size and continuation of American arms shipments to Israel depends almost completely on the battlefield needs of the Tel Aviv government, according to U.S. officials.

A number of sources indicated, however, that the sea and air supply missions announced Monday would be limited to the replacement of planes, tanks, bombs, artillery rounds and other items as they are lost or expended in the fighting.

For example, administration officials report that the Israelis committed to maintain for many, many years, "planes and tanks lost by the Syrians and Egyptians. But of the Soviet resupply effort as officials believe there is a steady resupply of ground-to-air missiles used against the Israeli planes."

He said the Russians, using huge transport planes, have delivered about 4,000 tons of equipment to Egypt and Syria in some 280 flights that began last Wednesday.

Other administration officials, indicating a higher rate of delivery, said the flights have been increasing from a few dozen to more than 70 flights on Sunday.

So far, officials indicated the Russians do not appear to be replacing the hundreds of jets at Base in Virginia.

Agnew Again Denies Wrongdoing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — possibility he had violated a Spiro T. Agnew has said "new post Watergate moral-goodnight to the Americans ty."

The former vice president gave no accounting in his 22-minute address for cash contributions he has acknowledged receiving from Maryland contractors in 1967 and acknowledged "criminal wrongdoing," said he was driven from the nation's second highest office by the testimony of frightened men trying to save themselves and admitted nothing except that he had received cash payments totalling at least $87,500 from those contractors, beginning while he was governor of Maryland and continuing long after he became vice president.

He confined himself, instead, to an attack on the news media for publishing leaked stories about the government's case against him, an assault on plea-bargaining and an expression of continued loyalty to President Nixon.

The speech was without the equivalent of a plea of guilty for the purpose of that history. It was delivered—negotiated proceeding in Baltimore, it does not represent a confession of any guilt whatever for any other purpose," he said.

He said he had decided not to fight the government's charges because "the American people deserve to have a vice president who commands their confidence and respect."

While I am fully aware that the plea of nolo contendere was two months now, you have not had such a vice president.

The government, in its court case, presented in Baltimore last Wednesday, said Agnew as governor of Maryland received cash from contractors doing business with the state which was divided three ways—50 per cent for himself and 25 per cent for each of two aides. The government statement said Agnew continued receiving these payments regularly slipped to him in envelopes in Agnew's office next door to the White House.

But Agnew said the government's case has "been publicized and broadcast as indisputable fact," even though it rested he said, on the word of "bribe brokers, extortionists, conspirators."

But Agnew said President Nixon, who did not watch the speech, was not responsible for his misfortunes. He said Nixon "has done his best to accommodate human decency without sacrificing legal rectitude."

At the close he expressed hope for the future of the United States and said: "Thank you, good night and farewell."

Mayoral Hopefuls at Chamber Breakfast

Old City Hall, Library Chief Topics

KINGSTON times in his prepared remarks, The fate of the abandoned city hall at 408 Broadway and cannot afford to elect a man the future of the Kingston Area as mayor of the City of Kingston Library across the street drew who does not know and understand the workings of government.

Merrill touched on a wide range of topics in his prepared address, including a proposal for a mid-city shopping plaza, plans for a trolley system using existing railroad tracks in the city to alleviate the mass transportation problem.

Both candidates addressed a gathering of some 50 businessmen and their guests for ten minutes each, offering little in the way of anything new. Democrat-Liberal incumbent Francis R. Koenig cited his administration's four-year record in office, putting a premium of "experience" and "responsibility" while Republican Conservative challenger William B. Merrill Jr. declared it was "time for a change."

Koenig, in driving home his point on experience and responsibility, used the word six sit problem, equalization of the sales tax between Kingston and the surrounding areas, his proposals for "UniGov," the streamlining of city government, and also discussed the landfill, storm sewers, street maintenance and the old city hall, stating that "these things should not be neglected."

During the question and answer session, both candidates agreed that the Kingston Area Library should stay where it is at 399 Broadway and opted for on site reconstruction rather than moving to a site suggested by the library on Albany Avenue.

The city hall question was raised by George Hutton, an architect and a former member of the Landmarks Preservation Commission. Hutton asked the mayor what is being done to retain and rehabilitate the building which has been vacant since September of last year.

Nobel Prize to Kissinger, Tho

OSLO, Norway (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and North Vietnamese Politburo member Le Duc Tho were awarded the 1973 Nobel Peace Prize today for their efforts to officially end the Vietnam war.

Kissinger and Tho defeated 45 other accepted candidates, including President Nixon, President Tito of Yugoslavia and 10 international organizations.

The prize was about $120,000 and will be shared equally between the two winners.

The Nobel committee chairman, Mrs. Aase Lionaes, a judge and member of Parliament, announced the decision after the five-member committee reviewed the candidates for 2½ hours.

Bank Robbery: 3 or 4 Bandits?

TOWN OF ULSTER, State Police continued to try to piece together eyewitness accounts and films today in an attempt to determine whether three or four persons were involved in a $10,000 armed robbery at the Bonanza Branch of the Heritage Savings Bank Monday morning.

Patrols continued throughout Ulster County today in an attempt to locate the two or three black males and one black female who entered the bank shortly after it opened at 9 a.m. and, wielding guns, told employees and customers that a holdup was taking place.

State police said film taken from an automatic camera device inside the bank has been developed and attempts are being made to identify the robbers, some of whom were wearing stocking masks during the holdup.

"We are still trying to determine if three or four persons were involved," State Police Lt. E. J. Minahan said today.

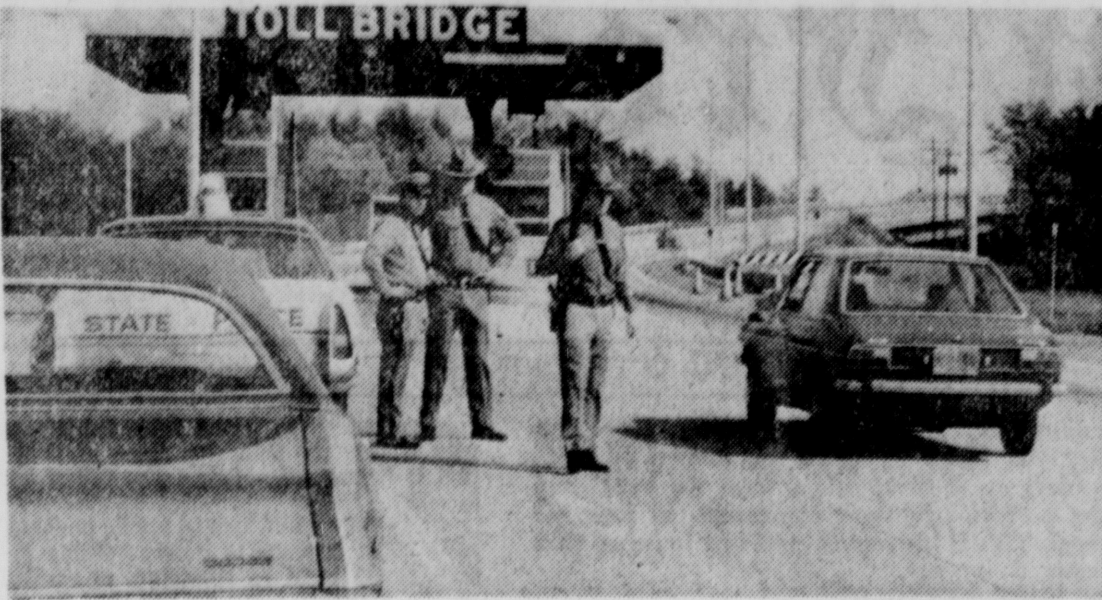

Lt. Minahan said police have been unable to obtain a better description of the getaway vehicle other than that it was a dark-colored car.

"The film has been processed and we are conducting an investigation into the identities of the robbers," Lt. Minahan said. He declined to say whether any of the robbers who were not wearing stocking masks were shown in the film.

A state police helicopter which joined the search Monday, and roadblocks which were set up throughout the area, have been removed from the investigation.

Lt. Minahan said it is not known whether the robbers were able to get out of the county after the theft. "We don't know whether they've gone north, south, east or west," he said.

Francis J. Kugelman Jr., vice president of Heritage Savings Bank, said today that $10,221 was taken when the robbers rifled through several money drawers. He said the denominations of the bills taken ranged from $1 to $100.

Roadblock

Shotgun-wielding state troopers are shown manning a roadblock at the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge Monday as police agencies pressed their search for three or four persons who held up the Bonanza Branch of the Heritage Savings Bank and made off with more than $10,000 after locking employees and customers in a bathroom. Roadblocks were removed today, but the State Police and FBI continued their attempts to identify and locate the robbers. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

State School Administrators Receive a Warning

KIAMESHA LAKE, N. Y. (UPI)—The state's educational establishment was confronted with an implied warning today to begin making improvements and find out "why Johnny can't read."

The message came from Daniel Klepak, director of the Office of Education Performance Review, in a speech Monday night at a conference of school principals and administrators.

Klepak, more commonly known as the education "inspector general", said the Education Department's own Pupil Evaluation Program (PEP) tests showed that more than half the children in third grade in two New York City schools could not read or understand a simple paragraph.

"This is an observation that stuns me and I know it distresses you," Klepak said.

He told the principals that his office was not out to "fix the blame or to slash budgets" but simply wanted to help meet problems with "solutions that cannot wait."

Klepak said PEP results for upstate schools "were only slightly less staggering" than the New York City results and said neither educators, parents nor his office could wait to begin the improvements.

"You all know the excuses put forward and you also know that parents don't accept them—they still want to know why their children can't read now."

Noting that outside education influences were important he said "schools are there for a reason and part of that reason is to teach children to read."

"If they don't what do they do?" he asked.

His office had begun studying two New York City schools and might soon expand the study and analysis statewide, Klepak said, adding that the IG's group was not conducting basic new research but was probing existing studies on why children can't read.

One finding, he said, was that principals were "a decisive element in a school's successful reading program."

"The two schools in New York City were chosen because, although they were carefully matched in the areas of ethnic derivation, family income, percentage of families on welfare and student mobility, they had widely varying scores on the state's PEP tests and the metropolitan achievement tests."

Klepak said his office was looking to determine what degree of assistance principals gave teachers and attitudes and practices regarding homework, professionalism, attitudes towards pupils and parents, staff morale, enthusiasm and discipline.

Noting that principals "more than anyone else, control the hiring of teachers, the allocation of resources and the quality of the school environment," Klepak warned the administrators "you may get the larger share of the blame or the credit."

He said his office was "not tied to any traditions. If we find something, anything, that works, we're not going to publish a thesis—we're going to insist that it be tried."

Attorney Makes Watergate Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A lawyer for four Miami area men serving indefinite prison terms in the Watergate burglary case says, "They've been punished enough. There's no reason they ought to be in jail."

Attorney Daniel E. Schultz was scheduled to appear in U.S. District Court today (10 a.m. EDT) to ask that his clients be released while they fight to prove their innocence.

Schultz represents Bernard L. Barker, Frank A. Sturgis, Virgilio R. Gonzalez and Eugenio R. Martinez. Another defendant, E. Howard Hunt Jr., is similarly seeking release from prison.

All five pleaded guilty to conspiracy, burglary, bugging and wiretapping of Democratic headquarters and have been behind bars ever since, primarily at a federal facility at Danbury, Conn.

But they recently asked U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica for permission to switch their pleas to innocent and to be released from custody pending final disposition of their cases.

The five men contend they were lured into believing Watergate was a spy operation sanctioned by the government and later pressured into pleading guilty and keeping quiet.

Sirica has set a hearing for

Oct. 29 on the change of plea request.

Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox has opposed releasing any of the men from prison, stressing their backgrounds in undercover work and use of aliases and suggesting that makes them bad bail risks.

Sirica told Hunt and the four Miami-area men at sentencing in March that their final sentences would depend on how well they cooperated with authorities.

Indian Disturbance Quelled

MONTREAL (UPI)—Heavily-armed Quebec provincial police patrolled the "tense but quiet"

Caughnawaga Indian Reserve

today after a clash with militant Indians slightly injured three policemen.

The disturbance came Monday night with a deadline set by the Warrior Society for all non-Indian families to leave the 2,000 acre reserve, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River just outside Montreal.

Members of the militant society had warned several weeks ago that they would use force, if necessary, to force non-Indian families off the reserve.

A police spokesman said a group of Indians took over a home formerly owned by a non-

Indian Monday night and, when police attempted to evict them, the house was set afire and burned down.

QPP said several young persons were taken into custody and, while police were questioning them, a mob estimated at more than 200 stormed the local police and fire station and attempted to free them.

Police broke up the disturbance with tear gas, but not before three policemen were slightly injured and seven police cars heavily damaged, a

QPP spokesman said.

A call went out for reinforcements from nearby communities and about 100 riot-equipped QPP

members moved onto the re-

Jackson Favored in Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI) — Vice Mayor Maynard Jackson was favored to become the first black mayor of a major Southern city today to climax a bitter, racially tinged runoff battle with incumbent Sam Massell.

A turnout of about two-thirds of Atlanta's 206,257 registered voters was predicted, somewhat higher than the 107,853 vote in the 11-man first race in which Jackson doubled Massell's total but fell short of a majority.

An election eve survey conducted by Darden Research Corp. for Atlanta television station WAGA-TV showed Jackson a 60 per cent winner in an even turnout of white and black voters. Whites have a 4,000-vote

Esopus Candidates Hit Police Issue

TOWN OF ESOPUS
E. Sterling Potter, Republi- can candidate for Esopus Town Supervisor, has called for an "immediate revitalization of the Esopus Town Police Department."
Potter called for a "workable 24 hour Esopus Police phone number" so that all town residents could be assured of an immediate response. "There is no time for a busy signal where public safety is concerned," said Potter.
Following a recent campaign tour of the Rifton area, Potter called for the creation of an Esopus Police Commission which representatives from all areas of the Esopus community serving on the board, "Police protection, not politics," said Potter. "The safety and security of Esopus residents is one of the main obligations of town government."
Meanwhile, Tom Johnson, a member of the Esopus Planning Board and a former special town patrolman who is running on the Republican-Conservative ticket for town council, has concurred with Potter's stand on town police matters. Johnson stressed that Potter's "approach to the public safety question was the only way that all residents of the Esopus community could be assured of adequate protection for their homes and families."

A thoughtful investment.

Perhaps you've been looking at various ways of putting money away for a youngster's future. Have you considered a custodial savings account, with its tax advantages?
A custodial account provides a better way than most investments of making money grow. Unlike the stock market, for example, its growth depends solely on you. And, unlike insurance, it earns an excellent rate of interest — at Heritage, the highest interest rate permitted for banks by law. And this interest is tax-free for you as guardian.
These accounts are available at any time for the benefit of the young people through their early years. Then, at age 21, the accounts automatically become theirs, to provide for their future and stand as a reminder of your wisdom and foresight.
Makes sense, doesn't it? Come in to Heritage and discuss how a custodial account can help you achieve your aims. It's a wise and thoughtful investment.

TEN ARAB STATES IN THE WAR AGAINST ISRAEL

U.S. Is Walking Israel Tightrope

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is walking a tightrope in trying to rearm Israel without dampening the spirit of detente with the Soviet Union.

Gradually, Washington is taking a firmer stand toward Moscow. President Nixon has even evoked memories of U.S. Marines landing on the shores of Lebanon 15 years ago.

But there has been little rhetoric in either capital. As Robert J. McCloskey, the State Department spokesman, put it Monday: "We're less interested in name-calling than in trying to reach a diplomatic solution."

Even a communique in Moscow pledging "to assist in every way the liberation of all Arab territories occupied by Israel" was read calmly here.

A senior U.S. official said he would have been surprised had any softer language marked the conclusion of the visit of an Arab leader. President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria, to the Soviet capital.

The official said he could detect no threat of direct Soviet military intervention in the Middle East war.

And while Soviet Communist Party Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and Boumedienne spoke of Arab liberation, Jacob Malik, the Soviet ambassador to the United Nations, was invoking the spirit of detente to promote a proposal for reduced military budgets.

"Times have changed," he said. "The Cold War days are gone."

Nixon recalled the Marines and Lebanon at a White House ceremony for Medal of Honor winners.

"If I were to describe our guerrilla elements, policy I would say it is like the Lebanon was involved," he said. "It's like the policy in 1970 when Jordan was involved."

The United States landed the Marines that year to support the Beirut government against insurgents. In 1970 it enlisted the help of Moscow to persuade Syria to pull back from a Jordan that had expelled radical guerrilla elements.

Paltz Dems and the Mysterious Driveway

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ — The mysterious case of Theodore Lasher's driveway was resurrected Monday by New Paltz Democratic candidate for supervisor John Logan, at a press conference held by the Democrats.

In a prepared statement, Logan said the Republican dominated board had been guilty of actions that were "unlawful, evasive of the truth, and against the best interest of the people of the town."

At the press conference held later on in the day by the Republicans, Lasher, now the incumbent supervisor and Logan's opponent, said there was nothing wrong in the incident, though he had some doubts about the lack of a deed in the matter.

According to press accounts of the incident, which happened in August 1968, Lasher gave land to the town for road rebuilding, and the town board agreed to relocate about 100 feet of his driveway since the construction of the rebuilding of Jansen Road had ruined his other one.

Logan charged Monday that Lasher had "never given an inch" to the town, and that it was illegal in any case for town crews to work on private property.

Logan based his assertion that Lasher had never given land to the town on the lack of a deed transferring land from Lasher to the town, Logan said he had not been able to find one when he looked for it. Lasher said the reason Logan could not find a deed was because there was none.

Lasher said he had never deeded the land because he had been told it was not necessary by former Supervisor Anthony J. Moriello. Lasher said he questioned that at the time, and was still ready to formally deed the land at any time, once it was surveyed. He said Jansen Road, then a town but now a county road, was either partially or wholly on his land along about 1500 feet of his property frontage.

He said the driveway, about 125 feet long, was done by the town since the new road involved about an eight foot cut, and he could not use the old driveway. "Even if it had been anybody else but me, they would have had to do it," said Lasher.

Logan also called for better cable television service for New Paltz. He charged that the town board had a "sweetheart" contract with the present franchise in the town, New Paltz Tele-Cable, and the less profitable areas of the town did not get service.

Candidate for councilman Ralph Kulseng called for a revision of the town's code of ethics, particularly in the function of the board of ethics. He recommended that the ethics board be able to respond to requests from private citizens, to subpoena evidence, and to be required to make its findings known to the public.

The other Democratic candidate for councilman, John Vett, blasted the Republican town board for a lack of long-range planning, particularly with regard to traffic. Citing the town's traffic problems, he said they had happened during the town's Republican domination.

"This is the record of the Republicans and we have to hang in around their necks," he said.

Alan Sussman, candidate for town justice, said he would bring his knowledge of the law to the people in a series of forums and discussion groups, with the subjects of the meetings being geared to the audiences.

Clerk candidate Kathy Puglisi said she would run the town clerk's office free of political influence, and candidate for superintendent of highways Al Krom scored the town's priority for highway repairs.

All of the candidates made property disclosures.

For the "Forgotten" Businessman HUDSON VALLEY FEDERAL presents a NEW savings plan...

DIAL-A-MATIC

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 16, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — As a young attorney in the late 1930s, Richard Nixon specialized in federal tax law, which made him an expert in how legally to avoid paying taxes.
It was a specialty that served him well after he became President and acquired a million-dollar estate at San Clemente, Calif. A Providence, R.I., reporter named Jack White has dug out the fact that the President paid an income tax of only $792.81 in 1970 and $878.03 in 1971, although he collected a $200,000 yearly salary. We have now confirmed White's figures from our own confidential sources.

Like everyone else, the President's taxes are withheld from his salary. He is also required to pay quarterly estimated taxes on additional income. In 1970, he received a whopping $72,616.43 tax refund; in 1971, his refund was $58,889.41.
In other words, the President — with his huge salary, his kingly estates at San Clemente and Key Biscayne, his government limousines, helicopters, planes and boats — paid less taxes than a family of three earning only $8,500 a year.

The President got away with this giant tax break, apparently, by claiming deductions for mortgage-interest payments, real estate taxes and the gifts of his vice-presidential papers to the National Archives.

The Internal Revenue Service, no doubt with some trepidation, audited the President's tax returns for 1971 and 1972. The White House has refused further comment, except to say that the IRS accepted his returns without change.
Presumably, therefore, the IRS accepted the deductions Nixon claimed for the interest payments on the loans he received to finance the San Clemente purchase. He borrowed $625,000 from his rich friend, Robert Abplanalp, to meet the down payment and renovation costs. (Most of the renovations, however, were paid by the taxpayers.)

Subsequently, Abplanalp canceled the $625,000 debt in return for the deed to the outer circle of the San Clemente property. Nixon kept title to the heart of the estate and continued to use the property belonging to Abplanalp. The financial details are complicated. But they boil down to this: Abplanalp put up most of the money for the San Clemente purchase, but the President wound up with the most valuable portion of the estate. Under these circumstances, tax experts have told us, Nixon should count the canceled $625,000 debt, or at least most of it, as income.

The tax regulations, of course, are subject to different interpretations. They are, indeed, almost beyond human comprehension. The volumes of regulations and interpretations would fill a small library. The table of contents alone runs 1,032 pages.

But we have talked to experts who strongly disagree with the IRS and believe the President has not paid his fair share of the taxes. California's Governor Ronald Reagan, an acknowledged millionaire with a $50,000 annual state salary, has also admitted that he paid no federal or state taxes whatever two years ago.
Yet both Nixon and Reagan have opposed tax reforms that would lighten the burden for the small taxpayers.

FOOTNOTE: It was the acceptance of financial favors, ironically, that got Spiro Agnew in trouble for tax evasion.

U.S. MEDDLING — A confidential Senate report charges that the federally-sponsored agency designed to spur investment in developing nations "tends to increase the likelihood of United States government involvement in the internal policies of other countries in connection with the property interests of United States corporations."

According to the report by the Multinational Corporate's subcommittee, headed by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, the Overseas Private Investment Corporation (OPIC) "has inherent within it a conflict between the achievement of public policy and management by sound insurance principles. The result has been a large and unsatisfactory exposure of the good faith and credit of the U.S. government."

OPIC's intended purpose is to assist the economies of poor nations by stimulating investments by U.S. companies, while insuring them against political risks like expropriation. The committee found, however, that OPIC is in danger of going broke at a loss to the taxpayers of $200 million. OPIC claims to be self-supporting.

POLITICAL ADVENTURES — A major problem is that some firms, insured by OPIC, indulge in foreign political adventures. In Chile, for example, ITT tried to block Salvador Allende from becoming president. When ITT's plot failed, its Chilean telephone company was expropriated. ITT and Anaconda Copper, whose mines were also taken over by the Allende government, are now seeking through arbitration.

"There are currently $369 million in claims and guarantees outstanding against OPIC's approximately $150 million of reserves," the report asserts. "It is quite possible that there will be additional catastrophic losses due to expropriation."

Warning that "OPIC could easily find itself deeply in the red," the study concluded that "most OPIC insured investments would probably have occurred even without the OPIC insurance." It further states: "OPIC currently has only a marginal effect on fostering new investment."

Citing ITT's Chilean investments and those in Jamaica by Reynolds Aluminum, the committee found "the companies recognize the political uses to which the program can be put."

"The international political problems caused by OPIC are as great as the financial ones," the report says. The solution recommended by the committee: A swift transfer of OPIC's insurance function to the private sector.

FOOTNOTE: Even though the report has not yet been presented to the Foreign Relations Committee, OPIC officials have already been lobbying Senators and staff members to oppose the recommended scrapping of the agency.

Eyes on Supreme Court

Unless one has a personal interest in a particular issue, the opening of a new session of the United States Supreme Court ordinarily is about as exciting as watching grass grow.

But not this fall.

The top court has convened for its fall term in an atmosphere dominated by the shadow of the Watergate scandal but other historic constitutional issues confront the nine judges and Americans throughout the nation will be awaiting their pronouncements. More than 50 cases accepted last term are ready for argument and another 600 have been submitted for review.

Outside of Watergate, perhaps the most controversial political issues continues to be school busing. The question this year is whether the constitution requires busing across independent school district lines in order to correct segregation problems.

Women will be interested in the court's ruling on whether schools can insist that pregnant teachers resign after five months of pregnancy.

Other vital decisions will come on the questions of the President's right to impound appropriated funds and on wire tapping.

There's a growing interest in prisoner rights and a batch of appeals involving racial discrimination and matters of religion. Reviews also have been asked of lower court decisions affecting the administration of military justice.

But all will dim into the background as Americans await verdicts on Watergate. Actually no cases related to the spy scandal have been presented yet to the court but at least three are expected within the next 45 days and three more associated cases could reach the judges by spring.

It's a real-life drama with interest and tension mounting daily. What degree of immunity does a President have? Will President Nixon have to relinquish his tapes? Should former Attorney General Mitchell, now indicted for perjury in New York, have access to the tapes?

These are some of the questions the tribunal faces and the answers won't come easily.

No Way to Stop War

More arms to the belligerents in the Mideast war is no way to stop it. So the United States and the Soviet Union have publicly said they want to stop the fighting before it engulfs them and their allies. But both are under extreme pressure to resupply arms that already have been depleted in the fierce fighting.

U.S. military officials report that Moscow is sending new supplies to Egypt and Syria in military transport aircraft. Russian Sam-6 missiles, so effective against Israeli aircraft, were in turn destroyed by them. Their replacement is indicated by the appearance of Russian planes so big that they could carry the Sam-6 missiles.

On the other hand, The Norfolk Star-Ledger reported that air-to-air Sparrow and Sidewinder missiles, and American arms, were loaded onto a Boeing 707 jet bearing Israeli markings. They were seen at Oceana Naval Base. The Israeli markings were painted out before departure.

American officers in Europe are said to be searching their depots for material and arms which could resupply Israel losses. This is not a safe thing to do. We should not deplete our own supplies and thus tempt a watching greedy aggressor to try his luck against our forces. If we have an obligation to resupply Israel, we should not do it at the expense of our forces nearest the Iron Curtain. And we should not do it period, or we will be involved in another controversial war.

Meantime, President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger briefed a group of 19 congressmen on the war at the White House and won a unanimous endorsement of their efforts for peace. Mr. Nixon is trying to persuade Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev to convince the Arabs to go to the negotiating table to seek peace.

However, the road to peace seems to be longer than anyone expected. Flushed by their early success, the Egyptians are trying to penetrate the Sinai deep enough to be able to reclaim it. This Israel rejects even more strongly now that the Suez Canal proved not to be a firm defense line. Now it looks as though the war will have to continue until a military decision has been achieved.

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.
Concerning the resignation of Mr. Agnew, a few observations:

1) Cheating on one's income tax is a deed both grubby and adventurous. The American ethic on the question is, so far as I know, unique. When the income tax was imposed in Spain for the first time 20 years ago, tax blanks were sent to 70,000 inhabitants in Barcelona whose incomes were known to fall in the taxable levels. When deadline came, something less than 40 people sent in their completed returns.

In England (I am told) no one has ever been sent to jail for income tax evasion — instead there are discreet negotiations. In the United States, default on income tax has emerged not only as something on the order of civic profanity, but as the offense the government gets you for when it can't find anything else. Al Capone is the traditional example.

Spiro Agnew made a stupid mistake in 1967, and he also made a mistake which, judged by American cultural ethics, was dishonorable. He made the mistake while serving as governor of Maryland, far removed from the position he was soon to be drafted into, wherein he found himself, like St.

Augustine of Hippo, suddenly elevated to an episcopacy whence to anathematize those sins which he had most routinely committed in his earlier years.

2) For Agnew the income tax chiseler I feel nothing more than the pity I feel for the pickpocket. My beef against Agnew is that he stood before the women in California as recently as a fortnight ago and swore to them that he was innocent. That is hard to explain, very hard. We have here, once again, what I have called the Profumo Factor. John Profumo did not fall in England because he presided over dreadful orgies, but because he looked the House of Commons in the eye and said that he was innocent. If there is an explanation for Spiro Agnew looking the ladies in the eye in California and saying: trust in me — I am innocent — I want to hear it. As soon as possible.

3) Assume that there is such an explanation. . . Assume that — let us conjecture — the Vice President was benumbed, that he indulged such impulses as are stimulated by screaming loyalists and eristic lawyers who point out constructions on the basis of which one can plausibly contend that Sirhan wasn't the man who killed Robert Kennedy, and that Spiro Agnew didn't really need to declare that particular $29,500 as income — assuming that that moral parachute is available to Spiro Agnew, certain things need to be said.

One of them is that Spiro Agnew was transformed when he became Vice President. Suddenly he was no longer the County Executive. Agnew should be judged by history not as the tacky defalcator of 1967, but as the Vice President of 1969-73.

4) And oh what a mark he made. It was said about him briefly during 1969 and 1970 that he had agreed to serve as "Nixon's Nixon." It is correct that he undertook to serve as the cutting edge of Nixon's Presidency, and that he got the popularity reserved to the tough talker, as also the unpopularity. It is also true that he did a job that greatly needed doing during a period when the academic population was largely frozen in physical fear and intellectual paralysis. When the broadshouldered moralists of Harvard, Berkeley, Cornell, and Columbia were cringing before their mindless tormentors, Agnew was reiterating the norms of civilized and democratic conduct, the norms the Lords Spiritual were supposed to be upholding, except that they were too busy: capitulating to the kids, and making fun of Spiro Agnew. During that important period in American history Agnew distinguished himself by defending these norms, by laying blame where it belonged, by declaring in rhetoric steadfast his continuing allegiance to the ideals of liberty and order. I do not doubt that his personal influence, his personal impact, consolidated the public that came finally to stand up against the moral anarchists who, when they violated the law, whinnied out their defenses pleading the grand immunities of civil disobedience and anti-militarism.

As the dust settles on the political thoughts of Spiro Agnew one doubts that justice in the truest sense has now come to America. It is always bracing when mighty men fall. But less so when they fall for such offenses as brought Agnew down. It is ironic to meditate on the great number of those who stand erect disdaining Spiro Agnew, whose crimes against society are of a truly plausible magnitude.

Washington Calling

Grim Prospect in Mideast War

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The larger and more threatening issue in the Middle East war is now very much to the fore. That the Israeli forces would ultimately triumph could never be seriously doubted, although in the first days the incursions across the canal and the heavy losses suffered in repelling the invaders from the east bank were cause for grave anxiety.

What threatens today is the grim prospect that had been comfortably assumed to have been removed. That is the confrontation between the Soviet Union as an ally of the Arabs and the United States as an ally of Israel. Reports of the Soviets moving in war materiel are matched by reports of planes with Israeli markings loaded with bombs and missiles flown out of Norfolk, Va.

Officialsdom here has reported on an anonymous basis the efforts of Soviet diplomats in Arab capitals to prod Arabs still on the sidelines to get into the battle. These reports make big headlines, contributing to the belief that the two superpowers are increasingly involved in the conflict.

The repercussions out of the war impinge directly on the Nixon-Kissinger initiatives for peace and an easing of tensions with the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China. According to Israeli sources, the Soviets have during the past year been supplying Egypt with up to 600 T-62 tanks. These tanks are said to be more modern than anything in the armories of the West. The fact that the Egyptians were able to get a number to these tanks across the canal explains why the fighting was so fierce at the start.

The presence of Soviet SAM-6s, a weapon the Israelis believe to be beyond the knowledge of American military intelligence, is given as the reason for the heavy loss of Israeli planes. This is said to add up to one-tenth of the total force. While this figure includes some Mirages, the losses have been mostly in Phantoms and Skyhawks supplied by the United States. Syrian and Egyptian losses, far outnumbering those of the Israeli force, have been in Soviet MIGs.

The day after the war in the Middle East began, Secretary of State, Henry A. Kissinger addressed the convocation, Pacem in Terris. It was a lucid, courageous and forthright speech. He made the case for a detente with the Soviet Union that would not be hindered by an attempt to impose conditions on Soviet domestic policy. The alternative, Kissinger suggested, is a return to the confrontation of the cold war with ever-increasing armaments in a race that can hardly be stopped short of Armageddon. What has come to light in the brief interval since then may have put a period to that hope.

There is a larger issue and that is the security, the safety, of the Israeli people if they are ever to be more than a cockpit in the struggle for supremacy of the two superpowers. The accident of geography has put this small, advanced, highly progressive country in a position in accord with Hebrew traditions but hardly tenable militarily.

I have a vivid memory of one of the most sensitive and perceptive officials in Tel Aviv speaking of what it meant to live in a sea of Arabs. Israel has a population of 3.1 million while the Arab states number at least 80 million.

The measure is not merely quantitative. For Israel each casualty is the loss of a precious life essential to the future of an embattled state. For the Arabs, a Jihad, a holy war invoked by authoritarian rulers, totally disregards human life.

Confidence is strong that Israeli air and land forces can wipe out the Egyptian armies, destroy the SAM-6 missiles and reduce Egyptian and Syrian airfields to rubble. The aim is to obliterate once and for all the war-making power of Israel's Arab neighbors.

But the 3 million Israelis will still live in a sea of Arabs and that must raise doubts about the ultimate objective. Only six years ago the six-day Israeli victory gave every appearance of having ended for a long time the Arab zeal for outright war. The widely reported withdrawal of the Russians from Egypt gave a false impression of increasing security.

The longer the war continues the greater will be the pressure on the two superpowers to intervene at least with war materiel. That is a threat reaching far beyond the bloody, dusty battle in that ancient arena.

Committee Will Ask for Architect

Mental Health Facility Headed for Drawing Board

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — According to Melvin Mones (R-City), committee chairman, there is no requirement for either a sophisticated building or equipment.

Mones said the hiring of an architect is necessary at this time in order to determine the cost of the proposed facility before the Legislature agrees to construct it. The facility can be financed either with federal revenue sharing funds or state funds, he said.

At a recent meeting of the Legislature, he told of the need for the facility and the fact that it would save taxpayers money in that it would keep mental patients in their home community instead of having to provide for their care in out-of-town facilities.

Minority Leader Dr. Gerald P. Gorman spoke of the money generated by a Mental Health Center saying he hoped even more would be generated which would be available with a larger facility.

"Most important," he said, "is the phenomenal job Dr. George Joseph, mental health director is doing."

Dr. Joseph addressed the Legislature concerning the growing need for larger and better facilities, pointing out that there were 30,287 patients in the present facility in 1972 and that an additional 2,000 are anticipated this year. He described the present center as "an old and risky building," totally inadequate in size, necessitating the staff's working nights and Saturdays to accommodate the needs of the patients.

Dr. Joseph suggested that it would be a great advantage to have the new center with its day hospital adjacent to the Benedictine Hospital, pointing out that 33 per cent of the patients were taken in on an emergency basis. He said 287 patients were committed to state hospitals last year. Due to the work of the present staff and its efforts to keep patients in the community through treatment in the psychiatric wing at Benedictine Hospital, and the present, though inadequate, day hospital this year, Dr. Joseph explained, the number was cut by 40 per cent.

Dr. Joseph envisions the A day hospital which would provide intensive recreation, occupational and drug therapy for patients not needing full hospitalization, would lessen the amount of state hospital commitments even more, he said. The present clinic, which included in the day hospital and averages about 80 patients a day, who are usually accompanied by their relatives and friends, is totally inadequate in size, Dr. Joseph said, as are the facilities for members of the staff.

Kiwanis Kapers to Run Nov. 1-3

KINGSTON — be purchased from any club member.

The show is a satire on the past 25 years of television, according to Clifford A. Heinz, Kiwanis president. "Jim Thompson has done as excellent job in past Kapers shows," Heinz said. "I'm sure the current edition will be up to his usual high standards."

The show will be presented on the nights of November 1, 2 and 3, at the Kingston High School auditorium. Tickets may be purchased from any club member.

Before joining the local radio station, he was associated with a Kingston public relations firm, annually for 29 years by the Board of Directors of the local Red Cross Chapter and a board program and youth work.

Awards Set for Bike-a-Thon

KINGSTON — The Ulster Cycling Club has made arrangements with the League of American Wheelmen (LAW) to sanction a 100-mile century run in connection with the American Cancer Society Bike-a-Thon, slated in Kingston for October 20.

Cyclists who ride 100 miles in 12 hours or less will receive an embroidered patch to commemorate their achievement. The route will be over 17 laps of a planned six-mile loop which will let younger and less experienced riders test their stamina and riding skill without risking a breakdown in a remote area.

Dan Stott, president of the YMCA-sponsored Ulster Cycling Club, asks riders to appear at Dietz Stadium no later than 6:45 a.m. on Saturday, October 20 for registration. The ride begins at 7 a.m.

Registration forms are available at area merchants or through the office of the American Cancer Society at 409 Broadway, Kingston.

Air Force at UCCC

STONE RIDGE — He will discuss the AFOTC program and scholarship opportunities offered at more than 170 colleges and universities throughout the country.

Application procedures for the four-year scholarship will be reviewed and applications will be available. AFOTC scholarships pay full tuition and incidental fees, provide all textbooks, and pay $100 per month tax-free subsistence allowance for the months spent in college, he explained, urging interested students and their parents to attend.

Major David L. Dibell, Air Force ROTC Admissions Counselor for New York, will be a participant in tonight's college night at Ulster County Community College.

IBM Tries to Reduce Fine

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—International Business Machines Corp. was scheduled to return to federal court today to try to reduce a $352.5 million anti-trust judgment against it.

U.S. District Judge A. Sherman Christensen levied the fine Sept. 17, but said Oct. 9 he had made a "substantial error" in calculating the amount of the settlement to Telex Corp., a Tulsa-based peripheral data processing firm, in its original suit of $1.2 billion against IBM.

Christensen said he neglected to deduct certain figures from the judgment before tripling the amount of actual damages to reach the $352.5 million figure. He asked lawyers for both sides to present arguments on whether or not money figures could be set on certain aspects of the case—such as the injunctive relief granted to Telex, and then deducted from the base damage figure awarded the smaller firm.

Christensen said he would grant IBM's motion for hearings on the amount of the judgment, or "in the alternative" a new trial to deal solely with that issue.

IBM filed a notice of motion Monday with the court clerk indicating its intention to seek to order Telex to cease a reported contractual agreement with another company, which IBM claims involves dissemination of IBM trade secrets.

Christensen, in ruling on IBM's countersuit, ordered

Telex to cease use of any confidential IBM materials it had. IBM claimed in the notice of motion that Telex had agreed to supply Digital Equipment Corp. with drawings and documentation of prototype equipment for a disc drive similar to IBM's 330. Telex denied any connection between that agreement and IBM trade secrets.

Jazz Drummer Gene Krupa Dead at 64

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Jazz drummer Gene Krupa died today at his home here. He was 64.

Krupa had been released from Yonkers General Hospital about a week ago. He had been under treatment for leukemia. His last public appearance was Aug. 18 in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., with Benny Goodman, whose band he joined in 1934.

MEDAL OF HONOR WINNER — Lt. Col. Leo K. Thorsness of Sioux Falls, S. D., smiles as he stands beside President Nixon after the President had presented him the Medal of Honor in a White House ceremony. Thorsness was awarded the medal for protecting two fellow airmen, in descending parachutes after they were shot down, from Mig 17s. Eleven days later he was shot down and became a POW. Deputies Chase Flying Objects

PINE, La. (UPI)—Sheriff's deputies chased five orange-reddish flying objects 12 miles through the Louisiana piney woods late Monday night and early today.

Deputy Michael Moore said the ships almost attacked a police car.

"One of our deputies was scared pretty bad," Moore said from the Washington Parish Sheriff's Department. "He turned on his red lights, and they came down at his patrol car. He turned them off and they just vanished like in a cloud."

Moore said the ships, reported 150 miles northwest of similar sightings at Pascagoula, Miss., "came right down at you and then vanish above the treetops."

Moore said several deputies were out chasing the ships and one of the men tried to take pictures.

"Our deputies spotted five of them, and a bunch of witnesses saw them too," he said.

In another sighting reported near Slidell, across Lake Pontchartrain from New Orleans, Lloyd Mercer said he saw an object "approximately 15 or 20 feet in diameter and it had a streak about a foot wide straight through the middle."

"I was driving and I said, 'That can't be the moon, it's too large to be the moon.'"

"I'd say it was approximately 125 to 200 feet in the air and gradually it disappeared. It took five to six minutes."

"All I could see was a red glow. It looked like it came straight out of the water" of Lake Pontchartrain," he said.

"I've seen it tonight with my own natural eyes. I have to believe what I see. It was no moon and it was no balloon, and it was no ship."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By

JIM GILPATRIC

For a Veteran's Day thought we suggest you read the Preamble to the American Legion Constitution. . . .

"For God and country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; To maintain law and order; To foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; To preserve the memories and incidents of our associations in the great wars; To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; To combat the autocracy of both the classes and masses; To make right the master of the might; To promote peace and good will on earth; To safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; To consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness. . . .

It is a marvelous, meaningful document. It explains what Americanism is all about. . . .

Thanks to you

The United Way of Ulster County

Do you want to do something about the quality of life? So do we.

Maybe you'd like to do something but you don't know where to start. You'll be glad to know we've already started.

We're the United Way, the sole support of thousands of community health, service and charitable agencies. And we're trying as hard as we can to make our community a better place to live.

Not just for the other fellow. But for you, too, when you need us.

Give what you can. There's something in it for everybody.

once upon a housewares extravaganza one crisp fall morning, mother awoke to the aroma of coffee perking. her 1 time-all automatic timer kept the coffee perking for ten minutes. (she even uses it to protect the house when the family is away.) dad was already up and working outside with his new 2 deluxe lawn sweeper that picks up leaves with its heavy duty leaf holder. thinking that she'd be busy all day, mom started dinner cooking in her 3 rival 3 1/2 quart crockpot that cooks electrically. then she rushed out to wallace's to shop for her cousin ramona's shower gift. there was a great sale on 4 50-pc. silverware, but she had trouble deciding whether to buy the "bolero" or "pistol grip" patterns. the kids, harvey and his pal gerry, were making their own lunch with the 5 oster blender that has a 10-speed dual range. they looked up recipes in the cook book that came with the blender, and decided on peanut butter and honey soup. they filled the large 5 cup container right to the top. luckily, it opens at both ends for easy cleaning. when dad came in from sweeping the lawn, he noticed that the floor needed a little vacuuming. "somebody better get busy before your mother gets home," he said a little wearily. laurie took the hint. she pulled out the 6 regina elektrikbroom and whizzed right through the house. not much of a chore with 2-speed ease! dad was about to take a nap when he was reminded that he promised to take the cub scouts on a hike in the afternoon. sitting on top of the mountain, you can bet he was thinking about his 7 oster foot massager, the newest thing to relax and soothe tired feet. but when mom came home from shopping, she put her feet into the oster foot massager while the water was boiling in the 8 regal 2 1/2 qt. tea pot. just as the whistle blew, harvey and laurie (both with wet hair) started arguing over the 9 lady schick style dryer. its two speeds and two heats work perfectly for drying and styling any length hair. after dinner, mom said to dad, "neil, how would you like to pop some popcorn for the two of us? I picked up a swell 10 corn popper at wallace's today!" as neil took his feet out of the oster foot massager, he sighed, "that would be just fine."

Loving Wife Slows Down Mate's Beer Intake

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Maybe my experience will help some other women whose husbands have a drinking problem.

My husband used to drink three to four cases of beer a week. I promised him that any day he didn't drink more than two bottles of beer, I would make love to him any time of the day or night. Now a case of beer will last forever.

Many days he will hurry home from work to get home before the kids. He used to stop to have a few beers with the boys. No more. It worked for us, so it may work for someone else.

SOBER LOVER
IN MINNESOTA

DEAR SOBER: "Land of the sky blue waters" should be changed to "land of the true blue lovers." Congratulations, even though I am opposed in principle to using "love" as a reward... and withholding it as a punishment.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for the guy who shot the dog with a .22 rifle. I would do the same to every dog that comes on my property, but there is a $100 fine for firing a gun in a residential neighborhood.

I say, if dogs were taxed, we would have a better U.S.A. in which to live. Dogs in Europe are taxed.

DOG-HATER IN SOUTH CAROLINA

DEAR DOG-HATER: Dogs are "taxed" in the U.S.A. (What do you think a dog's license is?) In Italy, watchdogs are not taxed, only "luxury" dogs (pets) are taxed. Of course, you might have a difficult time trying to convince the tax folks that your pet is also a watchdog, or that your watchdog is also a pet.

DEAR ABBY: This has been bothering me ever since it happened. Please tell me what to do if it ever happens again.

While at our school dance, a boy asked me to dance with him. I really didn't want to, but I didn't know how to turn him down without embarrassing him. How do you turn a boy down? Please print this because I'm sure many other teen-age girls share my problem.

CONFUSED GIRL
DEAR CONFUSED: You don't! Sometimes the easiest way around something is straight thru it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL WHO OBJECTED TO MY REPLY TO "STEVE'S GIRL" (who said she "loved" her job, but that Steve insisted that after they married she would work only 8 hours a day, 5 days a week, and no more. Steve didn't think a woman could successfully combine marriage and a career which demanded more time away from home than that.) I said I thought Steve's request was not unreasonable, but if SHE did, she should hold up the wedding bells.

Hundreds of readers wrote to ask me if my answer would have been the same had Steve's girl demanded that Steve work only 8 hours a day, 5 days a week.

Emphatically NO! It's a fact of life that working women who are married must do double duty. After their 8-hour day away from home they are expected to run a house and raise the children, too. I'm not saying it is FAIR, or even that that's the way it SHOULD BE. I simply said that in 99 per cent of the American homes, that's the way it IS!

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Engaged?

CONGRATULATIONS!

Yours! This Lovely Ruby and Crystal Wedding Bowl is our engagement gift to you with our very best wishes for a life of health, happiness and prosperity. Legend has it that the original wedding bowl was placed before the bride and groom and the wedding guests filed past while filling it with money. We, of course have lost track of this colorful custom but the wedding bowl persists as a unique entity... only now, it is given as a centerpiece and treasured as a memento. Our true replica of a Colonial antique is yours without any obligation. Just come in and get yours; it's gift-wrapped and ready. We are in the romantic business of making homes and it is our continuing pleasure to place at least one piece of our homefurnishings in every new home. We would be delighted to give you yours!

Present this ad any time prior to wedding date. Also with our compliments... booklets on the care of your furniture and a sample aerosol can of Guardsman furniture polish.

Membership Main Topic At VFW Groups' Meeting

District No. 2, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held its fall meeting recently at the Red Hook Post No. 7765. Membership was the main topic, with Red Hook Post being one of the first in the state to attain 100 per cent.

Because of the recent talks of cut-backs in veterans administration funds, all people were urged to write their representatives in Congress asking assistance in maintaining sufficient facilities for the care of veterans. The changing of holiday dates, Veteran's Day in particular, was discussed also. The Auxiliary's cancer chairman gave a report pertaining to the large amount of money given in grants to cancer victims. Memorial services were held for deceased members of the District.

Approximately 100 men and 100 women attended including James Kinsella, State Jr. vice commander; Dr. John S. Humphrey of Red Hook, state surgeon; John York, past state commander.

From Red Hook, John Coons, Post commander; Al Huneke, senior vice commander; Bert Coons, past District No. 2 commander; Albert Palumbo, Post trustee. Also, Florence Comfort, District No. 2 president; Julia Lane, National Council member; Anna E. Coons, past state president; and Leona Herman, state guard.

Emma Coon, District No. 2, Jr. vice president, who served as senior vice president; John Blank, Red Hook Auxiliary president; Anna Mary Smith, Jr. vice president; Ann Palumbo, chaplain; Cloatta Lewis and Jane Zietz. Ten counties were represented.

Hadassah Hospital Emergency Fund Drive

The women of Kingston-Hadassah will conduct a one-day emergency fund-raising drive for the Hadassah Hospital and Medical Center in Jerusalem on Wednesday. The Hadassah Hospital cares for all sick and injured without regard to nationality — Israeli or Arab alike. The tragic events of the past week have severely strained the resources of this world-famous institution.

The Hadassah Medical Center combines healing, teaching and research. The teaching facilities include schools of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Occupational Therapy and Nursing. At these schools more than 1300 are in training to meet the medical needs of the area.

During the current emergency all facilities have been made ready to meet the need of those seriously injured. Many doctors have been mobilized into the Army but their places have been taken by new immigrant doctors including a number of Russian Jews. The Hadassah Hospital is especially equipped for patients requiring sophisticated care and procedures not ordinarily available in the Middle East.

Volunteers will be at shopping centers and other convenient locations throughout Kingston giving all area residents an opportunity to support this worthy cause.

City 'Rap Line;' Friends in Need

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON — Since its formation in 1970, one of the most important — but underplayed — services of the Kingston Narcotics Guidance Council has been the "Rap Line," a telephone-answering service staffed by volunteer counselors who attempt to console and assist people with personal problems. "Rap Line" personnel counsel troubled persons in countless situations: potential suicides, drug problems, unwanted pregnancies, school or family difficulties. The line is open 24 hours a day, and the counselors are qualified to offer advice or suggestions on virtually every subject.

It's not often, however, that they see the fruits of their efforts. Often, they never hear again from the disembodied voices they counsel on the telephone. But there was an exception recently.

One person called with troubles of an undisclosed nature. "Rap Line" staffers listened and advised, and then received a sincere letter of thanks a few days later.

The letter was addressed to "All my upright peers," and was signed only with "encouraged." The letter read: "Please read my letter of encouragement. I was lost, real down. I didn't know who to talk to, what to do, where to turn. I tried to think, but my problem was getting out of hand, so I tried to change my thoughts. I picked up the Freeman and started to glance through it and there was part of my answer right before my eyes, an ad saying call 'Rap Line'. What did I have to lose, so I called. To my surprise, they listened and I talked. Oh, did I talk. "Although my problem wasn't completely solved, they sent me in the right direction. So, maybe I can do the same for you by writing this article. Why don't you take your problems to 'Rap Line'? Call 338-0227, then maybe you too, will be headed in the right direction."

Rhinebeck Women — No Time for Apathy

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK If you ask most elected public officials about their pet gripes, a good percentage will answer "public apathy."

There has been little of that to complain about in Rhinebeck's recent furor over the encroachment of land speculators and developers, and in the forefront of the opposition have been four women who have mounted a concerted attack upon the first major development proposal—Fennell on River Road.

These four women, who recently completed a tour of four large developments in the East, presented their facts and opinions to members of the Rhinebeck Rotary Monday.

The four are Jane Galloway, Dorie McKibbin, Sally Mazzarella, and Kay Verilli. They issued a joint statement to the effect that they felt the developments visited were not directly applicable to Rhinebeck in terms of the effect on the community, as they were located in close proximity to metropolitan areas, and "... in every case the impact of such development was not borne by one small township."

"We do agree that the concept of planned development can be designed to suit Rhinebeck," they said, but claimed that Rhinebeck's zoning law left the town "unprotected when dealing with developers."

The town enacted a 90-day moratorium last month on accepting applications for such developments, and an ad hoc committee (of which Jane Galloway is a member) is studying the local law.

Some "positive" aspects were garnered from the Dutchess County Cooperative Extension sponsored trip, said Mrs. Galloway, including ideas in lighting, signing, and landscaping that could prove applicable in the town.

Some changes in Rhinebeck's zoning law that Mrs. Mazzarella felt could be implemented would include provisions for adequate parking, some changed density requirements, and a landscaping clause.

And she commented that public opposition to large developments was, in some cases, quelled by the "fear of urban sprawl" implanted by the developer through other means of land use.

Mrs. McKibbin, describing Cross Keys, Md., a 72-acre, 1,100 unit high density development with 2,100 residents, noted that rentals were "very expensive," ranging up to $1,000 a month.

"You never had the feeling you could swing your arms," she said in describing the density, adding that she had found that townhouse living does not lend itself to raising children.

Mrs. Verilli said that Pine Run, N. J., in Camden County, was a "discouraging FUD." It is situated on 127 acres, was begun in 1967, and seemed to embody most of the "negative" features of a development.

Two planned cities were also visited, Columbia, Md., and Reston, Va. Mrs. Mazzarella described Columbia as having 35,000 residents, with an eventual goal of 110,000 persons on 14,000 acres.

She said the downtown area was "very beautiful"; it has a shopping mall similar to Colton Center; includes $92 a month subsidized housing and detached housing from $37,000 to $110,000; and is broken up into villages and neighborhoods.

Mrs. Galloway summarized Reston as "beautifully done and very expensive." It is 10 years old, built on 7,600 acres broken up into five villages, and is actually "a city in the country."

The joint statement quoted the chairman of environmental planning for Baltimore as saying that town boards must not be timid when talking with developers, and the four women obviously agreed.

Saugerties Budget Transfer

By CARL GRAHAM

GLASCO The Saugerties Board of Education Monday night transferred $4,000 in budget funds to pay for travel and conference attendance by district teachers and administrators.

The board took $6,000 for travel and conferences out of its twice-defeated 1973-74 budget before it was finally passed. The $4,000 voted Monday night at the meeting in Riccardi School in Glasco was taken from the salary set aside for a director of pupil personnel services, a position that was eliminated Monday night after having been vacant since May Evans retired last year.

An amendment by Robert Francello, board president, limits to $500 the amount that may be used for travel by Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, the superintendent of schools. Both the motion and amendment passed by a 6-3 vote, with Francello, John O'Rourke, the Reverend John Needham, Earl Benjamin, Peter Kramer and Thomas Macarille in favor and Mrs. Ann Bogert, Philip Meade, and Wesley Maxwell opposed.

On the recommendation of Gerald Snyder, business manager, the board rescinded the policy of charging 20 cents for second helpings of school lunches. Snyder said that high food costs made it impossible to maintain that price. The first serving charge of 35 cents remains unchanged but second servings will now cost 30 cents.

The board voted permission to form a high school judo club after learning that the district insurance carrier will cover the club's activities provided they are supervised by a teacher.

The board tabled a proposal to create the position of assistant district superintendent. Macarille said he saw no reason why the job should include supervision of transportation and buildings and grounds since the district already had capable personnel in those positions. Dr. Arnold was directed to draw up a job description for the position, which was abolished by the board three years ago.

An auditor's report covering district operations last year also was tabled after objections by Macarille, who said he saw no reason why the report should include a note regarding an "apparent dispute" over the validity of employment of Daniel Lee as high school principal, revolving around conditions of his tenure. Macarille said that there was no dispute, since Lee had been hired under a three-year contract in March, 1972.

Kramer said he wasn't ready to vote on a report he hadn't seen, and questioned the policy of not furnishing members of the board with the audit reports.

The board voted to give the newly formed Christian Academy and St. Mary's Parochial School permission to use the Cahill School field south of the Lafayette Street extension for after school activities, and recommended that principals of the three schools work out a schedule for the Academy and St. Mary's when the field is not being used by Cahill School.

The board approved the $5,328.83 bid of Berzal Chevrolet of Catskill for an eight-passenger station wagon for the district and a $2,140 bid by Visual Sales and Service of Albany for a video tape recorder which gives the district separate VTR units for the junior and senior high schools.

The board denied a request for a four-year leave of absence submitted by Christine Desmond, junior high school mathematics teacher, who said she wanted to enter an Air Force officer training program. Dr. Arnold said the policy was to grant leaves of absence only to those persons drafted into the armed forces.

Senior Citizen Housing

Zoning Action in Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE The Ellenville Village Board set the date of Nov. 5 at 7:30 p.m. for a public hearing on a zoning change for the site of the new senior citizen housing project in Ellenville, at its meeting Monday night.

The site, the old American Legion site, is presently zoned business and will have to be rezoned residential for the project to proceed.

Village residents will see more foot patrols by village police, and village residents will have to keep their sidewalks clean, following recommendations the board made at the meeting to Village Manager Modris Pukulis.

Trustee Sol Sandler headed both moves. He said the village had hired more police for more foot patrol, and it was not being conducted.

He also said the village's streets were "filthy."

What had set Sandler in motion was the reiteration by Leo Cohen, the head of the village's now-defunct Citizens Advisory Commission, of Spring Street in the village, recommendations the commission had made a year ago.

Both the foot patrols and the merchants' clean up were among the recommendations.

The board adopted a new policy of replacing any trees cut down in the village with another tree. This was a recommendation of the newly-formed Mayor's Advisory Council. The village is now involved in a project with local utilities to cut down 29 dead trees.

A public hearing on rezoning will be held Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p.m.

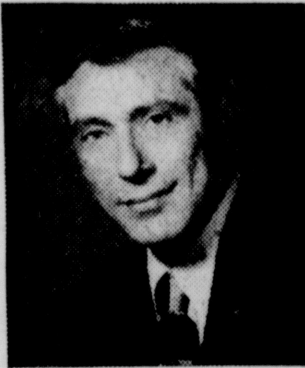

Frank Sahler, who has been trying to develop a 240-unit high-rise apartment complex on Spring Street in the village, asked the board to set a date for a density variance he said board can act on it.

Pukulis said he had checked with Ulster County Planning Director Herbert Hekler, and had been advised that there was no such thing as a density variance, and that Sahler would have to seek a zoning change for the property to a zone which would have to be created to meet his needs.

Sahler's property had been rezoned from R-1 to R-3, but he cannot meet the requirements for R-3 either.

It was recommended that Sahler go back before the planning board to get them to recommend a zoning change for his property, so that the village board can act on it.

A's Will Play Despite 'Andrews Affair'

Hunter vs. Seaver in Game Three

NEW YORK (UPI) — "None. With the boycott threat out of Augustus 'Catfish' Hunter been placed on the disabled list, baseman and pinch-hitter, whatsoever. It would never the way, the Series resumes match pitches in what is they even displayed a letter made two errors in the 12th tonight at Shea Stadium before expected to be a tight, low-addressed 'To Whom It May Concern' signed by the team in the 12th inning of the Oakland loss to the Mets Sunday, and the possibility of the Oakland A's at 1-1 after the first two games for the pitching duel was that Andrews was injured. Oakland players are convinced that Finley simply fired Andrews."

That reaction when asked about the York Mets and Oakland—tied. But much of the anticipation physician attesting to the fact that Finley simply fired Andrews' incident. And when it'll be the city slicker, A's got involved in his latest agree to the above. "It was a bush thing to do," signed by Andrews.

THE STARTERS FOR GAME THREE AT SHEA STADIUM

(UPI)

A Shaky Outfield

NEW YORK (UPI) — The It also became apparent in the outfield situation that is, at its best, shaky.

Manager Yogi Berra just shakes his head and says, "I don't know when he's asked what he will do to shore up an outfield situation that is, at its best, shaky."

Rightfielder Rusty Staub, who has one of the game's more powerful throwing arms, is still aching with a sore right shoulder and can barely throw the ball. He was underhanding it in the other day. Willie Mays, the man who plays if Staub doesn't, can't throw any better. It wasn't much of a secret before the World Series started that those two had problems in the outfield, although the Oakland John Milner among them. But Berra is a little hesitant to change the lineup that got the Mets through the playoffs and the first two games of the Series.

Reliever Tug McGraw, who picked up the victory Sunday when he pitched six-plus innings, his longest workout of the year, says he's ready to come back tonight if needed in the outfield. "Even though it's only one day off, it's almost 48 hours because of the time change and because it's a night game," McGraw said.

Finley's on a Streak

by MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charlie Finley, a man with an unusual mind, keeps making the same mistake all the time. He underestimates people. He thinks everybody's a fool. Everybody but him. As a result, he has all his Oakland ballplayers up in arms at him and he's on a terrific streak—three for three.

Eight days ago he got Joe Cronin teed off at him; this past weekend it was Bowie Kuhn, and now it's his entire Oakland team. Something like this doesn't take only work, it takes genius.

That's where Charlie Finley comes in. He has a positive genius for getting people angry with him, chiefly because he's generally trying to show how much shrewder he is than they are. Charlie Finley is so shrewd, it may cost him this world series.

Key figure in this latest drama is Mike Andrews, Oakland's reserve second baseman. Check that. Mike Andrews was Oakland's reserve second baseman until the 12th inning of Sunday's ball game with the New York Mets. That was the inning in which Andrews, used chiefly as a pinch hitter but seldom for defense, let John Milner's routine roller go through him for a two-run two-base error and then helped the Mets score another run with a bad throw on the very next play.

Following the ball game, when the A's boarded their bus to take them to the Oakland airport for the flight here, the players noticed Andrews was missing. They knew that Finley, manager Dick Williams, and Dr. Harry Walker, the club physician, had been together behind closed doors in the clubhouse and they smelled something fishy.

They began stamping their feet on the bus and shouting: "We want Mike! We want Mike! We want Mike!"

When the A's arrived here Monday morning following their 10-7 second game setback, they said they had an announcement.

Mike Andrews was being placed on the disabled list because of a shoulder injury and was going back home to Peabody, Mass. The announcement fooled nobody. Certainly none of the Oakland players. They figured Charlie Finley was acting predictably after those two critical errors by Andrews and simply firing him. From the way it looks, I'd say the players for a change are figuring right.

"Today it's Mike Andrews, tomorrow maybe it's me or any of the rest of us," says one of the A's regulars, asking please don't use his name because he likes to eat.

"We don't like what Finley did to Mike. He's got a lot of us saying to each other, 'I hope I don't go bad tomorrow or he's liable to leave me here in New York.' They had Mike sign a statement saying there was something wrong with his arm. Baloney. Mike told some of us there's nothing wrong with my arm. I just made a couple of errors. Hell, you don't fire a man for that. Mike is very well liked. He'd come out and throw batting practice all the time."

hit ground balls and do everything he could to help the club. This is the thanks he gets from Finley.

To show their resentment, the A's taped the No. 17 to their uniforms for Monday's workout at Shea Stadium. No. 17 is Mike Andrews' number. Or rather it was his number. The A's are convinced his official release will be announced after the series.

For his part, Finley has this to say about Andrews: "He's disabled. He can't play."

As for the players' reaction, Finley says: "They're only upset because they don't have the facts. They'll get the facts tomorrow."

Finley never gives up. He tried to get second baseman Manny Trillo added to Oakland's world series roster as a replacement for Juan Morales, whom the A's sold after he was on their original list of 25 frozen players, but the Mets refused permission.

As soon as the A's announced Andrews was on the disabled list, they tried to replace him with Trillo.

The Mets have to agree to this before the A's can activate Trillo, and if they do, they're crazy. They have some weaknesses, but I don't think they're crazy.

Listing Andrews as "disabled" makes me laugh, too. Okay, so he's disabled. Why did Finley send him home?

Bill North's disabled and he's still with the club. Reggie Jackson was disabled during last year's world series and he didn't have to go home.

Mike Andrews would've liked to stay with his teammates also. But he was told to go home.

His crime? Two errors. Lucky thing for Felix Millan he doesn't play for Charlie

Mets Tighten Security

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fearful of a repeat performance by souvenir hungry fans at the New York Mets' pennant-clinching last week, the club took measures to beef up its security precautions for tonight's third game of the World Series with the Oakland A's.

A 1,000-man task force will be in evidence, including 20 experts in crowd control, for the three night games. A contingent of 670 special police, many of them law enforcement officers from nearby towns, will patrol the confines of Shea Stadium while 330 New York City patrolmen are assigned to areas outside the ball park.

"We're going to do our best to prevent even the slightest repetition of what happened here during the championship series against Cincinnati," said

Jim Thomson, a Mets vice president and business manager.

Thomson added: "We're going to nip anything before it even starts. We have problems here, but we're going to break them. No throwing of objects of any kind will be tolerated. There will be a 100 per cent crackdown on the slightest offenders."

The first security precaution taken by the club was to ban the sale of standing room tickets, alleviating some of the milling about and the potential explosiveness that exists in too much togetherness. The last of the unreserved upper grandstand seats for the three games were sold by noon Monday assuring the Mets of three 50,000-plus attendance nights.

When the Mets clinched the National League pennant, fans and we intend to prosecute in every instance."

Shula's Doubts Erased

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Mercury Morris' incentive and Mike Kolen's interception erased all the doubt from the mind of Miami Dolphins' Coach Don Shula.

And it was fullback Larry Csonka, sore toe and all, and Garo Yepremian who put the points on the board Monday night as the World Champion Dolphins defeated the Cleveland Browns 17-9 in a nationally televised NFL game.

"We started slow in the first half but got some things going in the second half," Shula said. "We had a couple of big plays in Morris' 70-yard run and Kolen's interception."

"Morris' run was certainly a big play, an exceptionally big play because it came when we were deep in the hole. It was difficult to visualize getting out of there, but we did. When we had to get the job done, we did it."

Morris' run came late in the third quarter when the Browns, leading 6-3 on two Don Cockroft field goals, had the Dolphins at their own 20 on a first-and-10 situation. Morris, who carried the ball 13 times for 94 yards, took a handoff from quarterback Bob Griese and crashed through a gaping hole in the line and sped 70 yards before Clarence Scott tackled him from behind at the Cleveland nine.

"We just used the play once all night and that was it," Morris said. "But once is enough if it works."

"It should have been a touchdown. I didn't know I was that close and that Scott was catching up with me. I just tried to pick up blockers on the way and they were there. Fortunately, I was on the move."

Csonka took over and three plays later went in from the two to put Miami ahead 10-6 with 4:39 remaining in the period. It capped an 80-yard, five-play series.

Cockroft kicked his third field goal, a 35-yarder with 59 seconds left in the period, to put Cleveland within a point. But Kolen's 29-yard interception return of a Mike Phipps pass intended for Leroy Kelly with 6:41 left put the game out of reach for the Browns.

Csonka, who ran for 114 yards in 21 carries, scored his second TD four plays later when he burst into the end zone from two yards out.

"The two mistakes killed us," said Browns' Coach Nick Skorich. "We just missed a lot of tackles on Morris, a great runner. We had him hemmed in, but when the pursuit got behind him he was well on his way and Clarence was lucky to have caught up with him."

The Miami victory put the Dolphins into a first place tie with the Buffalo Bills in the AFC East, both with 4-1 records. The Browns, now 3-2, are tied for second place behind Pittsburgh in the AFC Central Division with the Cincinnati Bengals.

UP AND OVER — Cleveland's Ben Davis dumps Miami receiver Paul Warfield (42) during first quarter action Monday night. Dolphins won, 17-9. (UPI)

Peterson Out, Gillman In

HOUSTON (UPI) — Sid Gillman, saying "there's just no excuse for failure in our Oilers coach Bill Peterson and taken the job himself, at least temporarily."

"The decision was mine and solely mine," Gillman, 61, the Oilers' general manager, said Monday. "We are in a winning business. There's just no excuse for failure in our business."

Peterson, 49, had a 1-18 record with the Oilers.

"I did not come to the Houston Oilers with the idea of becoming a head coach or a coach," said Gillman, who took over the team's offense recently.

"We will look at all the sharp, young—and there are a lot of them—assistants in the NFL—some of that come out of a winning organization," he said.

Houston dropped its first five games this year, including a 48-20 loss to Denver Sunday.

"This is a great football team," Gillman said. "There is no excuse for our performance Sunday. None. None whatsoever."

"It was necessary for us to relieve Bill Peterson of his duties as head football coach," Gillman said. "The reasons are quite obvious. His record was 1-18."

Peterson had three and a half years remaining on a "million dollar life-long contract."

"I've heard it happening to others," Peterson said. "But I never thought it would happen to me. I still want to coach."

Coleman Now 5-0

KYSERIKE, The Ulster County Athletic League's first soccer season reached the halfway point Monday with Coleman High School completing a sweep of five straight victories by blanking Rondout Valley, 2-0.

Fallsburgh, whose only loss has been to Coleman, kept pace by knocking off New Paltz, 4-1, and Onteora turned back Pine Bush, 3-1, in a battle between first-year teams.

A first period goal by Chris Bentley was all Coleman could manage against the hustling Gander defense until late in the fourth period when Pete Contibeat Gander goalie Ernie Cessana to give the Statesmen some insurance.

Coleman goalie Sean Roche was called upon to make five stops in authoring a shutout in the Statesmen nets.

Fallsburgh took over sole possession of second place when it sent New Paltz to its second defeat, the other having come at the hands of Coleman.

Terry Patton scored the Comets' first goal late in the opening quarter. Then Fallsburgh added two more before halftime as Norris Gilmore and Patton again found the range. Chris Dutton brought New Paltz a goal closer when he scored on a third period penalty kick, but the Comets locked it up on Gilmore's second tally in the fourth quarter.

Two goals by Norm Bittschwann and one by Holger Sternberg, his coming only 15 seconds into the second period, provided Onteora with its margin to beat Pine Bush. Chris Misner's penalty kick gave the Bushmen a score. It was only their second goal of the season.

Does Ketcham Have Edge In DCSL Football Race?

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON Where does Beacon High School's first defeat leave the Dutchess County Scholastic League football race? That's a question that won't be answered conclusively for several more weeks, but there's a strong feeling emanating from various DCSL circles that the 1973 championship pennant will be flying over Ketcham High School, as it did the 1972 flag.

The Wappingers Falls Indians, despite their loss to Beacon, have been the most consistently impressive team in the league, and their most impressive effort was Saturday's 21-0 shellacking of Saugerties. Ketcham, with heavy duty running backs Mike Neborak and John Curris leading the way, have rolled up an official 747 yards rushing, the best figure in the league, and have yielded only 20 points, likewise a league leading figure.

For Ketcham to win the league however, it will have to beat a tough Kingston defense this week, a potentially explosive Arlington offense the next week, then Lourdes, which shocked Beacon, 20-12, and John Jay, which has its best team in history.

Actually, the schedule seems to favor Kingston. If the Maroons can get past Ketcham, then Lourdes, winless Poughkeepsie, and 2-2 Saugerties follow.

Arlington has games with Ketcham, Saugerties, Roosevelt, and Bacon, while the Bulldogs will be facing Roosevelt, John Jay, and Arlington. Saugerties and John Jay, though not mathematically out of it, must hope for plenty of help if they are counting on all four of the teams ahead of them to lose at least once, and that's what it will take to get the two .500 clubs a new life.

That Beacon did lose a game was not particularly shocking. That it lost it to Lourdes was,

The Warriors, who have been suffering from growing pains (the league's not theirs), held the Bulldogs to 99 yards, quite an accomplishment when you recall that Beacon can throw to Joe Simmons and run Joe Powell and Leroy Thorpe at you.

But somehow Lourdes contained them, and while they may continue to lose the war now that the rest of the league knows its capable of winning, it did capture one very large battle.

Neborak is the unofficial scoring leader with five touchdowns and a two-point conversion for 32 points. Mike Altomare of John Jay and Powell of Beacon have 30 apiece. Tied at 24 are Lyle Schuler of Kingston and George Hennessey of Arlington.

Ketcham's closest competitor as leading rushing team is John Jay. The Pats have 55 yards less than the Indians. Arlington continues to pace the passing clubs with 577 yards. Roosevelt has 408.

Kingston leads the DCSL in interceptions by a wide margin. The Maroons have 11 to John Jay's six.

WHAT YOU SEE IS WHAT YOU'LL GET — Hank Aaron (R) laughs it up with comedian Flip Wilson before taping show on which Aaron, the Atlanta Braves' slugger, will make his show business debut. Show will be aired Nov. 15. (UPI)

Elsewhere in the DCSL, Skip Farrier, Ted Gindele, and Bob Eckwall scored as Arlington blanked Saugerties, 3-0; Spack-enkill shutout Webutuck, 2-0; Poughkeepsie whipped John Jay, 5-1; and Ketcham downed Roosevelt, 2-0.

Saugerties put up a strong fight against Arlington, but the Admirals were just too strong. "We never felt we were out of it," said Sawyer Coach Tony Elia.

Pier Seven Scores

SAUGERTIES

Pier Seven remained unbeaten in the SAA "A" Division Touch Football League standings by whipping Herbie's, 40-2. In other games, State Farm Insurance blanked the Fire Department, 14-0, and the Raiders shutout Palenville, 37-0.

John Sullivan threw six touchdown passes, four to Steve Schabot, the other two to Kevin Murphy as Pier Seven won its fifth game. Jack Warns connected for two TD strikes as State Farm lifted its record to 4-0-1. The Raiders also moved to 4-0-1 as Larry Burud threw four touchdown passes and ran in for a fifth.

WCC Shotgun Tie

KINGSTON

June Van Kleeck and Betty Davenport tied for low gross honors with 44 in the Wiltwyck Shotgun Tourney, the final ladies event of the year.

Mary Treat and Charlotte Kohn tied for third with 45. Ruth Davis was net champ with 35. Other leading net scores were: Dot Elston, 36; Marlene Gogg, Millie Friedman, Edie DeWitt and Lorraine Thomas, 37 apiece.

Edie DeWitt's drive on No. 18 was the longest of the day, and Francis Prior's tee shot on No. 11 was closest to the pin.

SAA Expands

SAUGERTIES

The Saugerties Athletic Association has announced plans to take over the 12-team Saugerties Biddy Basketball League and the annual Saugerties Sports Hall of Fame Banquet.

The Biddy League will play a 16-week schedule with a two-round playoff beginning this month. Dave LaTourrette will be in charge of the league. The banquet initiated by the South Side Men's Club in 1964, has been held in recent years by former members of the now defunct organization. The affair, which honors living and deceased Saugerties sports greats will be held Feb. 16, 1974 at the Flamingo Restaurant.

A few hot features don't make a high performance snowmobile. It's how you put them all together.

There are a lot of snowmobiles around with big, fast engines, slide suspension systems and sleek, racy styling.

And there are a lot of snowmobile buyers who think that's all you need to make a high performance machine. But, there's a little more to it than that.

Power from a reliable source

Take the all-new TNT* from Ski-Doo.

We've got the engines: 3 big twins by Rotax that really crank it out. But, instead of just worrying about the performance you need to get you moving, we also worry about the reliability you need to keep you moving.

So we developed a rugged, Square Shaft clutch that increases available power by reducing power loss. We used a tough, light aluminum-steel frame to keep sled weight down. And on our muscular 440, for example, we chrome-plated the cylinder walls and added two additional transfer ports per cylinder to help it run cooler and last longer. The extra power you get is free.

TNT from Ski-Doo. It's got everything you expect to find in a high performance snowmobile, including a speedometer and tachometer as standard equipment. But TNT isn't just a few hot features. It's a totally engineered machine. See it at your Ski-Doo dealer's. There are six new models to choose from, including two with electric start. And all have a full one-year warranty.

$549,276 Research Grant For State Cancer Scientists

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Five scientists at the Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo will receive $549,276 in federal research funds, the state health department announced today.

The grants, including one for a project to probe environmental hazards that might produce cancer, were awarded by the U.S. Public Health Service for one year.

Recipients were: —Dr. Irwin D.J. Bross, director of biostatistics, $250,135 to set up a computer program for a study of possible environmental causes of cancer.

—Dr. Ronald G. Vincent, $154,400 for a study of improved methods for treating lung cancer victims.

—Dr. Untae Kim, $74,600 for an investigation into the possible prevention of the spread of breast cancer.

—Dr. William F. McLimans, $49,550 for a study in establishing satisfactory cultures to determine the causes of breast cancer.

—Dr. Eric G. Mayhew, $20,591 for a study of the role of cellular elements called "polynucleotides" in the anti-tumor activities of some cells.

How to Beat a 'Cinch' Game

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand was played in the spring charity game. The analysts point out that most South players would arrive at four spades after very simple bidding. They also point out that four spades can be beaten. Jack of hearts lead to East's ace. Eight of hearts return as a suit preference signal to ask for a diamond lead next. Ruff with West; diamond return to the ace and a second heart ruff. The analysts also point out that nothing can hurt a four-heart contract, but don't see how to get there.

We agree with that. In fact, we doubt if anyone actually did play this hand in hearts.

Furthermore we doubt if even a corporal's guard of players found that killing defense. Even if the jack of hearts is opened and East clatters up with the ace, South will drop his queen. East is not likely to lead a heart back.

BUS RIDE IN BANGKOK — Young demonstrators whoop it up with a bus ride, proclaiming victory over the police, after they set the Metropolitan Police Headquarters afire in Bangkok, Thailand. An estimated 10,000 persons, mostly students, pelted the four-story building with stones and molotov cocktails. Anti-military students also took over public buildings, including hospitals, following the end of a decade of military rule in Thailand. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Gasoline Prices Up Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Beginning today, motorists have to pay more for gasoline—again. The Cost of Living Council announced Monday that retailers will be allowed another round of gasoline price increases.

The latest price hikes, which also apply to diesel fuel and home heating oil, range up to 1½-cents a gallon, but most dealers will get less than a penny a gallon increase.

After allowing the increases, the CLC clamped a two-week price freeze on the three petroleum products and set a new price control formula beginning Nov. 1. The new formula will allow automatic increases to flow from refiner to service station in jumps of a penny a gallon.

Under the old formula, which confused the public and angered dealers and Congress, gasoline producers and wholesalers were free to raise prices to reflect the rising costs of crude oil. But retailers could not pass along higher costs to the motoring public. Instead, they had to absorb the added costs while waiting for special permission from the CLC to boost prices.

The new rule, which is open for two weeks to public and industry comment, "eliminates the squeeze on the little guy," one CLC official said.

Charles Owens, director of Oil Co. (Sunoco) 1 cent; the Council's energy division, Standard of Ohio 1 cent; Hess said, "It's a move toward simplicity . . . we're going to allow the marketplace to make a little more of the decision about when dealers can move their prices and I have a feeling that the dealers will find the marketplace is tougher than the Cost of Living Council."

Under the price hikes approved Monday, Atlantic Richfield (ARCO) may raise its prices 1½-cents per gallon. The other permissible price hikes (in cents per gallon) were Sun

Fighting Ends in Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Shops reopened and traffic flowed again in Bangkok today after two days of street fighting that drove Thailand's three most powerful military men and their families into exile.

Insurgent students who led the brief revolt against the military clique that had ruled Thailand for 16 years began cleaning up the debris left from the fighting. A night curfew was lifted. But troops and police promptly kept out of sight.

Boy Scouts tried to direct traffic at the busiest intersections, but most drivers ignored them.

The last violence was reported Monday night when several thousand students stormed and burned a police substation on the outskirts of the city. A mob burned out the main police headquarters earlier Monday, and several district stations were wrecked.

At least 169 persons were reported killed and hundreds wounded in the fighting Sunday, but there was no reliable estimate of casualties Monday.

Bangkok was pulled back from the brink of anarchy by the departure from the country during the night of the three military leaders who were the focus of the students' hatred: the premier, Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn; the deputy premier, Field Marshal Praphas Charusathien, who was considered the strongman of the regime, and the deputy chief of national security, Col. Narong Kittikachorn, who is Thanom's son and Praphas' son-in-law.

All three were assumed to have accumulated large fortunes abroad as well as in Thailand, the usual practice for the country's military rulers. Praphas and Narong arrived in Taiwan today with their families.

Local newspapers called them "the three most hated men in Thailand" and hailed the end of the "Kittikachorn Dynasty." But their departure left the military command structure otherwise intact, and Praphas' deputy, Gen. Kris Sri-Vara, was expected to be named defense minister in the new government.

Thanom resigned Sunday in an effort to quiet the situation, and King Bhumibol Adulyadej named Sanya Thammasak, the rector of Bangkok's Thammasak University, to succeed him.

Sanya announced Monday night that he had reached a compromise with student organizations and declared that the violence had been the work of a subversive "third hand."

Student leaders raced around the city urging their followers to cooperate with the new premier.

Sanya promised national elections within six months and a new constitution.

Douglas on 'Bugging'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Contending that government wiretapping is a "disease that has permeated our society," Justice William O. Douglas has alleged that the private conference room at the Supreme Court had been "bugged." Douglas, a member of the court's liberal bloc, also said that Lyndon B. Johnson once told him that Johnson's own phone was tapped during his term in the White House.

Douglas, 73, made the comments Monday in a seven-page dissent to the court's otherwise unanimous denial of bail to Marguerite Anne Heutsche, who claimed that illegal surveillance was used to frame questions put to her by a grand jury in a case involving removal and destruction of draft records.

"We live in a regime," Douglas said, "where the 'dirty business' of wiretapping runs rampant . . . We deal with a disease that has permeated our society."

"We who live in the District of Columbia know that electronic surveillance is commonplace," Douglas said. "I am indeed morally certain that the conference room of this court has been 'bugged' and President Johnson during his term in the White House asserted to me that even his phone was tapped."

Douglas did not elaborate on the statement.

Johnson's Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach told the Washington Post that it seemed "highly unlikely" that any telephone in the White House had been tapped. And Joseph A. Califano Jr., a former Johnson aide, said he had never heard his late boss complain of his telephone being wiretapped.

However, Bill Gill, an ABC correspondent, reported Monday that Johnson told him personally after he left office that he believed his telephone was bugged.

Roosevelt Demands Innocent Statement

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Pindling had reneged on a promise to give the Roosevelt group a gambling casino license, Roosevelt promptly and vehemently denied the charge. Roosevelt said his own testimony to the Senate group on Oct. 3 and Oct. 4 had fully disproved the charges, and that subcommittee members now should repair the damage to his reputation.

Roosevelt told a news conference that Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the subcommittee chairman, had promised such a statement following Roosevelt's appearance before the Senate group earlier this month.

In earlier hearings, Louis P. Mastriana, a convicted stock swindler, said Roosevelt and an associate had offered him $100,000 to assassinate Prime Minister Lynden O. Pindling of the Bahamas.

According to Mastriana, motor tune-ups

EVERYTHING FOR THE OFFICE

Who is Smith Parish? To begin with, there's Cliff Smith (seated), co-founder; Bob Breitenstein, vice-president, and John Burns III, president. They're dedicated men . . . dedicated to seeing that you get the finest roofing and siding possible. You can see they enjoy their work . . . and how about their customers? Just ask them. Please.
